

SUMMARY

Introduction.	V
Bibliography.	VII
Summary.	XV

CHAPTER I.

First aid of Alexander VI against the Mohammedans.

ARTICLE I. — The Pope's aid against the Moors.

Alexander's home and foreign policy.	1
The Pope encourages the kings of Spain by giving them the title of " Catholic ".	2
By making them Grand Masters of Military Orders.	3
By procuring them men and money.	4
The Pope aids also the king of Portugal.	5

ARTICLE II. — The Pope opposes the Turks acquiring more European territory.

Efforts of Alexander's predecessors against the Turks.	6
Alexander VI declared at once against the Turks.	7
The Pope fosters peace among Christian princes.	8

ARTICLE III. — Wars of Hungary with the Turks.

Turkish invasions of Carinthia, Styria and Croatia	9
Hungary, first saved by king Ladislas, is defeated.	10
The Pope tries to unite the kings of Hungary and of Poland.	10
He grants a Cruciata to Hungary and Bohemia	11
The count of Temesvar revenges the late defeat.	13

ARTICLE IV. — Further help afforded by Alexander VI.

Bajazeth and Venice prepare for naval war	13
The Pope helps Venice, favors the knights of St. John.	14
The Pope institutes the confraternity of St. George.	15
He gives two abbeys to the knights of St. George.	16
He prescribes processions to obtain God's assistance	17

ARTICLE V. — Events of the years 1493 to 1496.

The Pope requests Germany and France to attack the Turks.	19
Ladislas makes peace with Bajazeth for three years.	19
The Pope helps Ragusa and Sweden.	20

ARTICLE VI. — Catholic princes refuse help or even ally with the Turks.

Nothing could be expected from miserly Germany.	22
Charles VIII and some Italian princes ally with the Turks.	23
The Pope in vain asks help from Louis XII.	24
Poland takes revenge on the Turks.	26

CHAPTER II.

Wars of the Turks against Venice.

ARTICLE I. — Venice loses by land and by sea.

Requested by Ludovico the Moro, the Turks make war on Venice.	27
The Turks ravage Albania, Dalmatia and Istria.	27
The Turks assail the island of Corfu.	28
The Pope grants tithes and vessels to Venice.	29
Venetians and French unsuccessful in naval battle.	29
The Turks capture Nauplia and Lepanto.	30

ARTICLE II. — Futile congress in Rome.

The Pope invites all Christian princes to a congress.	31
Useless deliberations of the ambassadors.	32

ARTICLE III. — Further efforts of Alexander VI.

Defeat of the Turks in Hungary and Poland.	34
The Pope aids Hungary and Poland with Cruciata and tithes.	34
The Pope orders a tithe in France for an expedition against the Turks.	35
A triennial tithe imposed on the cardinals and all Roman clergy.	35
A tithe in Germany is unpaid.	38
A tithe in England kept by the King.	38
The Pope urges Maximilian, but Germany is niggardly.	39

Louis XII is indifferent to the danger of Christianity.	40
The " Angelus " as a protection from the Turks.	41
Massacre of Modone.	41

ARTICLE IV. — Successes of the Christians.

Dismay in Rome, Gonsalvo to join the Venetian fleet.	42
The Turks flee, Cephalonia taken by the Christians.	42
The Venetian captain follows up the successes.	43
A general appeal from the Pope to the Catholic princes.	44
The Pope builds a fleet to help Venice.	44
Cardinal legates to Christian countries.	45

ARTICLE V. — Alliance of the Pope with Hungary and Venice.

The Pope offers, for three years, 40,000 ducats to king Ladislas.	46
The alliance between the Pope, Venice and Hungary.	47
The Pope pays the 40,000 ducats three times.	48
The Pope encourages the grand-duke of Lithuania.	50

ARTICLE VI. — Cooperation of Christian princes.

The Christians equip a new fleet in A. D. 1501.	50
The Pope obliges the kings of France and of Spain to join his and the Venetian fleets.	51
The Pope unites all Europe against the Turks.	52
Cardinal d'Aubusson is named Captain General.	52
Disunited allies fail before Lesbos.	53
War postponed till the Spring of 1502.	54
Papal vessels, absent at first, join the fleet.	54
Absence of French and Spanish fleets spoils d'Aubusson's plans.	56
Santa Maura taken by papal and Venetian fleets.	56

ARTICLE VII. — Peace of Venice with the Turks.

Preparations for war.	57
Venice makes peace with the Sultan.	58
The Pope hears of the treaty, but Giustinian denies it.	58
Finally the Venetian ambassador admits it.	61
All Christian princes can enter the treaty.	61
Conditions of a peace that lasted several years.	62

CHAPTER III.

Death of pope Alexander VI.

ARTICLE I. — Dangers escaped by the Pope.

Constant labor and strong health of Alexander VI.	65
The Pope almost struck by a falling piece of iron.	66
The Pope covered by the ruins of a chimney.	67
He thanks the Blessed Virgin for his preservation.	68

ARTICLE II. — Story that Alexander died poisoned.

The swelling of his corpse causes suspicion of poison.	69
Story of Alexander's death from poison.	70
Guicciardini's description of his tragic death.	71
Later authors copy Guicciardini.	72

ARTICLE III. — The Pope's poisoning is a fiction.

Is it a fact or a fiction? a contemporary asks.	73
The details prove it to be a fiction.	74
Late writers doubt or reject the story.	80
Modern historians assert that the Pope died a natural death.	80
Contemporaries report that he died of fever.	81

ARTICLE IV. — History of Alexander's illness and death.

Fever rages in Rome at the time.	84
Daily account of the Pope's illness.	85
Alexander VI receives the last Sacraments and dies.	89

ARTICLE V. — The Pope's burial and funeral.

Burial of pope Alexander VI.	90
Grave of pope Alexander VI.	91
Cesar de Borgia takes the oath of fidelity to the Sacred College.	92
Provisions to defray the Pontiff's funeral.	93
Funeral and foundations for the repose of his soul.	93

ARTICLE VI. — Translations of Pope Alexanders'

remains.	94
Monument in the church of S. Maria in Monserrato.	96
The Pope's remains, together with those of Calixtus III buried in Santa Maria in Monserrato.	96

CHAPTER IV.

The exiled nobility regain their possessions.

Return of the Colonna barons.	99
The Orsini barons retake their fiefs.	100
Guidobaldo di Montefeltro recovers Urbino and helps Venice to invade the Pontifical States.	100
Giovanni Maria Varano and others return to their cities.	101
Malatesta retakes, loses again, and sells Rimini to Venice.	102
An Ordelaffi takes Forli and Venice captures Faenza.	103
Florence and Venice unjust towards the Pope.	104
Venice finally compelled to restitution.	105
Imola etc. remain faithful to Cesar de Borgia.	106

CHAPTER V.

Nepotism of pope Alexander VI.

ARTICLE I. — Nepotism of contemporary Popes.

Nepotism an unavoidable evil.	110
Nepotism usual at the time of Alexander VI.	110
Nepotism of Calixtus III and of Pius II.	111
Nepotism of Sixtus IV and of Innocent VIII.	112
Nepotism of Pius III and of Julius II.	113

ARTICLE II. — Treachery of Italian noblemen, cause of nepotism.

At first Alexander VI neglects the Borgia house and favors the Roman nobility.	115
Treacherous nobility to be displaced by nephews	116
Rebellious cardinals open the Sacred College to Borgias.	117

ARTICLE III. — Nepotism of Alexander VI.

Favors granted to Giovanni de Borgia, duke of Gandia.	118
Lucretia de Borgia favored and deprived.	119
Alexander VI the real owner of estates given to nephews.	120
The Pope gave nothing to Jofre de Borgia, yet disposed of his possessions.	123

ARTICLE IV. — Effect of Alexander's nepotism.

Cesar Captain General under and for the Pope.	123
Cesar duke of Romagna pays the census.	125
The Pope did not intend to make Cesar a king.	125
Alexander's nepotism effects the papal monarchy.	127

CHAPTER VI.

Finances of pope Alexander VI.

ARTICLE I. — Debts of the papal treasury.

The papal treasury in debt at Alexander's accession.	131
The debts reduced through strict accounts.	132
The Roman church in debt more than 300,000 ducats.	132
Alexander VI borrows money.	133
Monthly balances of the papal treasury.	135

ARTICLE II. — Expenses of Alexander VI.

Alexander spends little for himself.	138
Total yearly income of Pius II, 300,000 ducats; costs of States and court, 150,000.	138
Alexander spends large sums in building.	139
He yearly pays 40,000 ducats to king Ladislas.	139
Great sums spent on wars against rebellious lords.	139
Extraordinary means to obtain money.	141

ARTICLE III. — Ordinary sources of income. 142

Papal bulls to pay the Scriptoris and life annuities.	143
The Annates and the Servitia Communia et Minuta of Consistorial benefices.	144
St. Peter's Pence and tithes.	144

ARTICLE IV. — The Tolfa alum mines.

The alum mines and their destination.	145
The Tolfa mines robbed and damaged.	146
Lists of pensioners of the Tolfa mines.	147
Pity of the Pope towards the poor pensioners.	149

ARTICLE V. — Almsdeeds of Alexander VI.

Donations to hospitals.	152
Alexander's liberality towards his soldiers.	153
He sends surgeons to their camps.	153
He pensions his soldiers disabled in war.	154
The Pope procures residences for homeless cardinals.	154

ARTICLE VI. — Alexander VI accused of simony.

Alexander accused of selling benefices.	154
Death of Master Adam of Genoa.	156
Simony in the creation of new cardinals who are approved by the whole Sacred College?	156
Accusation of Infessura ignored.	157
Burchard's numerals, at the creation of 1500, indicates the income of the new cardinals.	157
Giustinian supposes simony at the creation of 1503.	159
No proof of simony at the creation of any cardinal.	160
Alexander VI punishes simony.	161
Possible causes of the accusation of simony.	162
Venice calls simoniacal the Office of Writers of the Apostolic Briefs.	164
Odious confusion of benefices and offices.	165
Vendible offices were real life-insurances, useful on occasions, to the papal government.	166

CHAPTER VII.

Alexander VI accused of deceit and murder.

ARTICLE I. — Accused of deceit.

Treacherous princes of Alexander's time.	169
The Pontiff keeps their confidence.	171
Alexander VI faithful to treaties.	172
His veracity established by facts.	174
Pope Alexander betrayed by Venice.	174

ARTICLE II. — Alexander accused of robbing and poisoning cardinals.

Law by which a Pope should inherit from cardinals.	175
Papal permission needed by Roman prelates to make a last will.	176
The Pope had revoked permission from cardinal Zeno.	177
Burchard explains the hearsay about cardinal Zeno.	178
Alexander inherits from cardinal Lopez.	179
Cardinal John Baptist Ferraris' sickness and death.	179
Giustinian first hints at, then asserts, poisoning.	181
Cardinal Orsini died a natural death.	182
The Pope heir of cardinal Michiel.	182
Asquinio de Colloredo, the cardinal's condemned poisoner accuses the Pope and Cesar de Borgia of directing him.	183
Contradictory conclusions of later writers.	183
A criminal the sole accuser of the Pope.	184
The Pope heir of cardinal Giovanni de Borgia.	185
Alexander VI meek of disposition.	186

CHAPTER VIII.

Alexander VI accused of immorality.

ARTICLE I. — Various incriminations.

The Pope said to neglect duties for worldly amusements.	190
Giustinian imagines dances in Camerino.	191
de l'Epinois and Yriarte improve on the accusation.	191
Giustinian blames the admission of ladies at the Vatican.	192
A certain Vespucci writes that twenty-five women were taken to the Vatican every evening.	193
It is an impossibility, a solitary calumny.	194
Orgy of the fifty courtesans.	194
Late writers' opinion of the slanderous story.	195
Silence of interested contemporaries about it.	198
It is no disgrace to be calumniated.	199
A word and an act of cardinal Pérault.	199
Incredible details of Lucretia de Borgia's marriage with Giovanni Sforza.	200
Report of the marriage by an ambassador who was present.	201
Festivities at Lucretia's marriage with Alfonso of Este.	203
Tradition of the nuptial ring.	205

ARTICLE II. — Alexander accused of incest.

Origin and diffusion of the slander.	206
Neapolitan poets, Matarazzo, etc. make the charge.	207
All late historians reject the imputation.	209

ARTICLE III. — More incriminations.

Ludovico the Moro and others accuse the Pope of keeping a harem.	211
Refutation of the calumny.	213
Pretended assault on a married woman.	214
Which is a solitary story, disbelieved by even Gregorovius and and intrinsically impossible.	214

CHAPTER IX.

Alexander VI and Julia Farnese.

ARTICLE I. — Who was Julia Farnese ?

Palaces of Julia's husband, Ursinus Orsini.	218
Julia and her husband were pious people of Bassanello.	219
Adriana del Milà, Julia and her sister taken prisoners and soon liberated.	219

ARTICLE II. — False charges against Julia.

Scandalous epithets applied to Julia Farnese	221
The incoherent lampoon of the " Dialogus Mortis ".	221
Pinturichio's picture of Julia Farnese and of the Pope is an invention of Vasari.	222
Imhoff's fierce assertion is a falsity.	223

ARTICLE III. — The Pope's letter to Lucretia de Borgia.

Untrue arguments of Gregorovius' accusation.	225
--	-----

ARTICLE IV. — Julia had no influence on the Pope.

Cardinal Farnese not a creature of Julia's influence.	227
Lawrence Pucci convinced that Julia had no influence with the Pope.	230
Julia could not obtain pardon for her uncles	230

ARTICLE V. — Was Laura Orsini the Pontiff's child ?

Laura was the child of Ursinus Orsini.	232
The accusation implicates a dozen honorable persons.	234
Pope Julius II arranges with Julia Farnese the marriage of Laura Orsini with his nephew.	235

CHAPTER X.

The Infant Giovanni de Borgia.

ARTICLE I. — Whose son was Giovanni ?

Was the Infant Giovanni Alexander's son ?	237
A few say he was Alexander's, Giustinian and the Romans say he was the son of Cesar de Borgia.	238
Authentic proofs that Giovanni was Cesar's child.	240
Later historians call Giovanni son of Cesar.	243

ARTICLE II. — Two interpolated bulls to contest Cesar's paternity of the Infant Giovanni.

A double original intimates forgery.	245
No contemporary record of Giovanni's legitimation.	246
Later interpolated records.	247
Explanation of the two bulls' same date.	247
The second bull secured no special effect.	248
The two bulls cause confusion.	250
Giovanni declared born from a non-married and married man !	251
Injustice done to Cesar by either bull.	252
The forger forgot the branch of the duke of Gandia.	253
Giovanni's counsel preferred Alexander to Cesar as father.	253
The second bull's unheard-of proviso.	254
The second bull at once contradicted.	254
The Pope's modern revilers do not admit the second bull.	254
One more son attributed to Alexander VI.	255

CHAPTER XI.

Exemplary life of Alexander VI.

Alexander's moral life is praised by contemporaries.	261
The Pope's activity and many great works.	262
The Pope's extraordinary frugality.	263

Alexander's confidence in God and in the Blessed Virgin.	263
Alexander a model of attendance at divine service.	264
The Pope's main devotion was to the Holy Sacrament.	265
The Pope's great piety to the Mother of God.	265
His alms towards objects of piety.	266
Impartial justice and charity towards his people.	267

CHAPTER XII.

Last years of Cesar de Borgia.

ARTICLE I. — Cesar during the interregnum after Alexander VI.

Cesar makes friends of the Colonna.	270
Cesar accused of robbing the papal treasury.	271
Proofs of his innocence.	272
Was Cesar resolved to make another Spanish Pope ?	273
Sick in the Vatican, Cesar is refused the castle of Sant' Angelo.	275
Cesar's troops make a show before the Sacred College and burn Orsini property.	275
Accord between Cesar and the cardinals.	276
Incursion of the Orsini into Rome.	277
Ambassadors to persuade Cesar to leave Rome.	278
Conditions of the Duke's withdrawal.	279
Cesar's departure from Rome. Funeral of Alexander VI. Election of Pius III.	280

ARTICLE II. — Cesar de Borgia under Pius III.

Cesar recalled and reinstated in Rome	281
Pius III writes in favor of Cesar, blaming Venice.	282
Cesar saved by the Pope in the castle of Sant' Angelo.	283
Death of pope Pius III.	283
Cesar defended by the Sacred College.	284

ARTICLE III. — Cesar under pope Julius II.

Agreement between cardinal Giuliano della Rovere and Cesar de Borgia.	284
Julius II greatly favors Cesar at first.	285
Julius II changes his ways, to retain his cities.	287
Cesar refuses to surrender his fortresses and is detained in Ostia.	288
Cesar is made a prisoner in the Vatican.	289

Cesar gives the countersigns of his castles.	289
The castellans refuse to surrender.	290
Cesar confined till the castles should be given up.	291
Cesar leaves Rome for Ostia.	292
15,000 ducats required by the castellan of Forli, and paid by Cesar with borrowed money.	292
With a safe-conduct from Gonsalvo, Cesar leaves Ostia for the kingdom of Naples.	293

ARTICLE IV. — Cesar under Spanish power.

Cesar's consideration grows and disquiets Julius II.	295
Pope Julius II's letters to Spain.	296
Gonsalvo violates his safe-conduct.	297
Cesar deported to Spain, a prisoner at Medina del Campo.	298
Cesar escapes to Navarra.	299
Cesar falls in battle.	299
A monument to Cesar de Borgia.	300

ANNEX

Credibility of Contemporary Authors.

1. Anonymous Lampoon.	301	22. Jacob of Volterra.	322
2. Aegidius of Viterbo.	302	23. Jove, Paul.	322
3. Albèri.	302	24. Lippus, Raphael Brandolinus.	323
4. Ammanati, Jacobus.	303	25. Machiavelli, Nicholas.	324
5. Bembo, Pietro.	304	26. Maffei of Volterra.	325
6. Benedetti, Alexander.	305	27. Malipiero, Dominic.	325
7. Branca da Talini.	305	28. Martyr, Peter.	326
8. Buonaccorsi, Biaggio.	306	29. Matarazzo.	328
9. Burchard, Joannes.	307	30. Mayno, Jason.	329
10. Cæsarini, Julian.	312	31. Nardi, Jacob.	330
11. Celadonius.	312	32. Panvinius, Onuphrius.	331
12. Commines, Philippe de	313	33. Platina, Continuer.	331
13. Conti, Sigismondo dei.	314	34. Pontano, Giovanni.	332
14. Corio, Bernardino.	315	35. Porcius, Hieronymus.	334
15. Delfino, Pietro.	316	36. Sanazzaro, Actius Sincerus.	335
16. Fernus, Michael.	316	37. Sanuto, Marin.	336
17. Glassberger, Nicholas.	317	38. Schedel, Hartman.	338
18. Gobellinus, Joannes.	317	39. Stella, Giovanni.	339
19. Guicciardini, Francesco	318	40. Tomaso, Tomasi.	339
20. Giustinian (notes).	319
21. Infessura.	320		